Jacques Weiss,
28, Rue Cambasores,
Paris-VIII, France.

Dear Mr. Weiss:

Regarding the meaning of the sentence, Personalized Adjusters ministering the "personality of the Universal Father as in the eternal past, eternal present, and the eternal future" we think this implies that an Adjuster is a creature of eternity. That he is not time conditioned, that he can deal with the future as he does the past or present.

We think that the word "minister" should be ~~understood~~ in this connection as to present, to interpret, or to portray.

I think you probably have the right idea of the word "dispense."

Of course, this matter of publishing the book in three volumes is one that the trustees of the Foundation will have to determine in due course. We are glad to have some of your reasons for feeling that this method is important in your country, and you may be sure that it will be thoroughly discussed at the time of the next Trustees' meeting.

I note what you say about the Bible texts as quoted in the Urantia Book. I should tell you that we located all of them as well as quotations from Oriental sacred books but in the mandate for the publication of the Urantia Book it was directed that we take nothing out or add anything to, therefore you will note that there are no footnotes in the Urantia Book. The only exception to this order was our permission to formulate the Table of Contents.

We have many diagrams and maps for the study of the Urantia Book but it is planned to publish them separately as in the case of the Index.

We will be writing you again following our Trustees' meeting, and in the meantime we will be glad to answer any further questions or to assist you in any way.

Sincerely,

E.L. Christensen

Secretary

P.S. Nice news about your daughter. Our congratulations and best wishes.
